

How We Help Professional Clients

If you're an accountant, consultant, risk manager, attorney, broker, financial advisor, or realtor, your clients look to you to provide expert advice. And you've never let them down. It can be incredibly frustrating to see disaster strike a client, especially when you don't have answers.

Do you want to be a valuable resource for your clients?

Have you already realized the benefits of tapping consultants and experts to supplement your services?

Do you want to increase your business through increased customer loyalty?

Would you like to be confident that your client recovers from this major property loss with the maximum settlement he or she is due?

Fires, floods, and storms do occur—and when they do, know that you can count on Southern Loss Consultants to take good care of your clients. Contact us for more details.

SLC Gets Results

"If you are a contractor, I would highly recommend using Southern Loss Consultants. They help your bottom line as well as fewer headaches at the end of the day. They are truly a defender of the people. They work with honesty and integrity, which can be rare in the insurance business."
-Don Hudson, General Contractor

"SLC is great when an insured is completely overwhelmed and getting the runaround from the insurance company. For example, in several fire cases, where the insurance companies have been incredibly slow in paying or they've denied the claim for various reasons, we've been successful in getting the insured what they should have been paid originally."
- Bruce Berger, Attorney

"We suffered a total loss. While trying to negotiate with the insurance company, I realized how much I didn't know about my policy. The insurance company doesn't explain to you everything that is offered under your policy. With Southern Loss Consultants working for me, I was able to do my job while they worked to make things happen with the insurance company and coordinate new construction."
-Christine Floyd, Property Manager
